SWINDLES STORES BY POSING AS GOVERNOR'S DAUGHTER

New York, N. Y., Sept. 28.—Posing as the daughter of Governor Foss, of Massachusetts, as the wife of various wealthy men and doing other bold acts, a girl in her early twenties, availed Boston and New York firms out of several thousand dollars worth of finery, according to a confession the police declare the young woman made.

She first said she was Frances Hollender, child of wealthy parents and a "pupil in a Baltimore convent." Detectives found 50 expensive gowns at a well known hotel where the girl had been staying. Upon this discovery she is alleged to have made her confession.

Only six months ago, she said, she was released on probation from a term in the Lancaster, Mass., reform school for obtaining from a Boston jeweler two diamond pendants by representing herself as one of the twin daughters of governor Foss. She ran away from the probation officers, had a love affair with a Harvard student and came to New York. Representing herself as the wife of a wealthy resident of Lynn, Mass., she obtained several expensive gowns and other finery.

She said she originally came from Chicago, but she would not tell the name of her parents.

GETS $25,000 IN THREE WEEKS FOR CLOSING SUGAR DEAL

New York, N. Y., Sept. 28.—Wallace P. Willett, an expert on sugar statistics testified in the government suit to dissolve the "sugar trust" that he received $25,000 for three weeks of negotiation for Henry O. Havemeyer, a purchaser of the Utah Beet Sugar company, which eventually was bought over by the American Sugar Refining company.

Mr. Willett said he had expected to receive a 5 percent commission for negotiating the Utah deal and as the price paid was $1,250,000 his commission would have been about $62,500. Mr. Havemeyer, however, reduced the commission to $25,000 explaining that the directors of the American Sugar Refining company might not sanction the deal. Mr. Willett accepted the $25,000 as "pretty good pay for three weeks' work," but it developed soon that the American company did take over the property at the price Mr. Havemeyer had paid for it.

DECLARES 10 PERCENT OF POPULATION IS DEFECTIVE

New York Expert Asserts Efforts Should Be Made to Eliminate Nine Classes of People.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 28.—Ten percent of the population of the United States is permanently defective and is an economic and moral burden on the other 90 percent, and should be eliminated from society, asserted Bleecker Van Wagenen, of New York, in speaking before the International Congress of Hygiene and Demography. Efforts should be made, he said, to get rid of proper methods of breeding of the following nine classes:

Paupers, feeble minded, those of criminal tendencies, epileptic insane, except acute cases not hereditary; those constitutionally weak; those predisposed to certain diseases and those having defective sense organs.

Professor Maurice A. Bigelow, of Columbia University, New York, said sex hygiene should be taught in the schools that even if an occasional mistake were made by this method, it would do far less harm than to allow children to get their information on sexual matters from impure sources.

Users of alcohol are more subject to tuberculosis than others, said Dr. Jacques Bertillon, chief of the bureau of municipal statistics, of Paris.
